BARNARD ZINE LIBRARY NEWSLETTER

SEPTEMBER '23

ARE YOU FALL REAL?

Follow us on Instagram
@barnardzinelibrary

Dear You-

Are you looking forward to the new semester?

As I write this in mid-August, we're winding down after a summer of momentum. From pre-college classes taught by the zine librarian Jenna Freedman to the creation of an NSOP zine compiled by zine assistants Erinma Oyewuchi (BC '24) and Alex Owens (BC '26), library staff have undertaken several large projects.

Currently, I am back in Pittsburgh enjoying my time at home doing zine library work, going on walks and spending time with my cat. I am looking forward to sophomore year and (finally) deciding a major.

Back in NYC, zine staff are working on keeping our zine collections organized and up to date, abstracting, and supporting researchers from all over the world.

Alex

Events @ the Zine Lib

In the Zine Library

With September comes the excitement of welcoming students new and old to the Zine Library.

On Friday, September I, we will host an our first official event of the 2023-2024 school year. This workshop is for NSOP participants to introduce themselves through calling card zines.

On the I5th, Zine Assistant Grace Li (BC '24) will lead a Cyanotype workshop where participants will learn about cyanotype printing, photo zines, and image curation. Prints made during the workshop will be added to a compilation zine that will be distributed after the event.

Instagram Highlight

(Click to open post!)

This month, we highlight we're highlighting the Barbie movie directed by alumna Greta Gerwig ('06).To celebrate the film, Barbie spent some time hanging out in the Zine Library.

Our social media accounts are run by zine assistant Erinma Onyewuchi BC '24.

"We've got a zine for that! "

Zines about working-class college students

Some of top subject headings used to describe the zines are

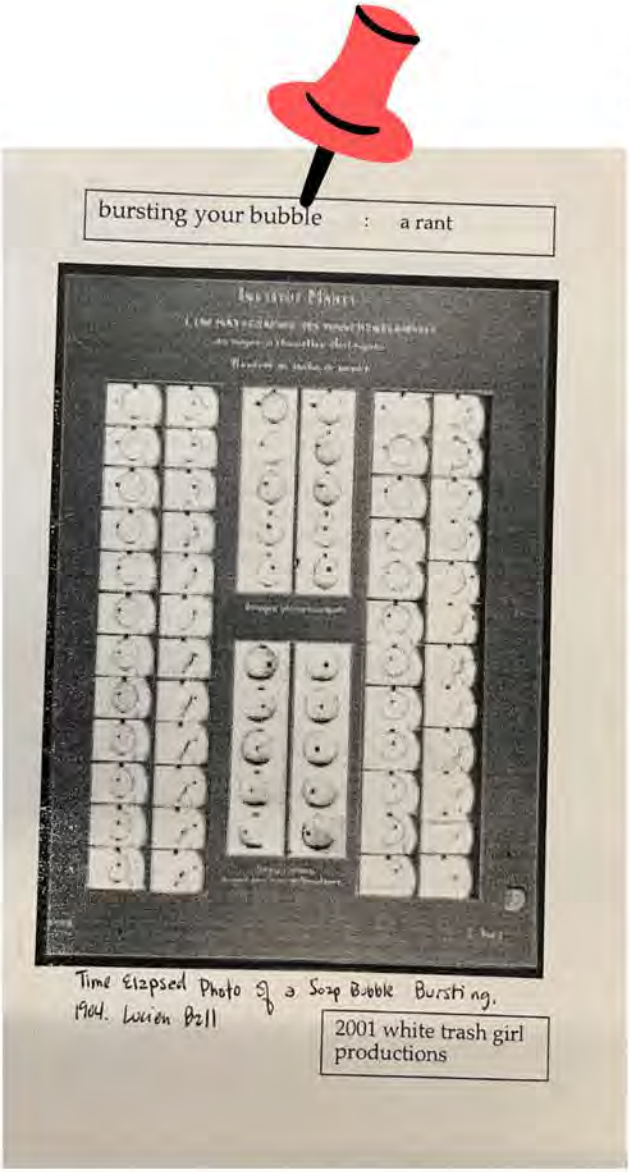
- Women College Students
- Working Class
- Teenage Girls
- Riot Grrrl Movement
- Punk Culture

Click here to learn more about our pre-college zines!

New-to-Us Library of Congress Subject Headings

- Accessible Web sites for people with disabilities
- Apartment houses
- Art appreciation
- Chickens
- Cyanotypes
- Gay pride celebrations
- German American architects
- Gossip in the workplace
- Lesbian musicians
- Modern movement (Architecture)
- Motion picture producers and directors
- Murder, she wrote (Television program)
- Patchwork quilts
- Quiltmakers
- Quilts
- Radio journalism
- Radio production and direction
- Reminiscing
- Sexual assault (new to LCSH as of July 2023)
- Sexual minority community
- Textile crafts

Zine Review



Bursting your bubble : a rant

"Bursting your bubble: a rant" was created by an unnamed individual and published by White Trash Girl productions in 2001. The author gives a scathing critique of classism at prestigious liberal arts institution Oberlin College in Ohio.

To the creator, classism and racism are coexisting forms of oppression, perpetuated by so-called liberals. It is these same individuals, who despite claiming liberalism contribute heavily to the oppression of the poor

Learn more about this zine in CLIO - Alex

What's bringing the zine library staff joy this month?

going home - Alex

co-op bakeries in sf - Claudia visiting family in maryland- Erinma unsubscribing from direct marketing emailers - Jenna

Credits

- Compiled by Alex Owens BC '26
- Designed by Nayla Delgado BC '24
- Graphics by Suze Myers BC'I6, Canva, & the Noun Project
- Written & Published by Barnard Zine Library staff in New York, NY 2023

Sign up for our announcements list by emailing zines@barnard.edu!